

History – Stone Age to Iron Age

Subject Specific Vocabulary		Associated Diagram	Sticky Knowledge
Neolithic	The later part of the Stone Age, when ground or polished stone weapons and implements pre-vailed.	 Stonehenge	Compare how humans lived at the start and the end of the Stone Age.
Stone Age	The middle part of the Stone Age between the Palaeolithic and Neolithic.		To start, humans lived separately and at the end they lived in settlements and farmed animals.
Bronze Age	The early phase of the Stone Age, lasting about 2.5 million years when stone implements were used.		Describe the Bronze Age.
Iron Age	The study of human history and prehistory through the excavation of sites and the analysis of artefacts.		The Bronze Age is when humans started to use metal.
Domesticate	Keep an animal tame or kept as a pet or on a farm.		Describe farming, religion and art and culture.
Settlement	A place that people establish a community and stay in one place.		What changed in the Iron Age?
Prehistory	A period of time before written records.		The Iron-age is when tools and weapons became more advanced and were used for farming.
Artefact	An object such as a tool that was made in the past and found in the present.		What is Skara Brae?